Producer

Villa Sandi

Nestling in the lush green hills of the Italian province of Treviso lies the magnificent Villa Sandi. Built in 1622 in the Palatine architectural style, an appreciative spirit for the good, stylish life has always prevailed here. This high standard is also met in the production of the wine. The Glera grapes come from exclusive vineyards, and Villa Sandi is the only company to perfect the single fermentation method throughout its entire production process so as to obtain even fresher high-quality proseccos. This is reflected in multiple award-winning, high-quality products that are appreciated by aficionados in 106 countries worldwide.
