

Pousio, 2022

Vinho Tinto Reserva Alentejano IG

Country of origin
Portugal

Grapes
Alicante Bouchet, Touriga Nacional, Petite Syrah

Serving temperature
16 - 18°C

Allergen notice
Contains sulphites

Alcohol content
13.5%

Character

Aromas of raspberry, plum and cherry, together with marked dried fruit dimensions and a touch of vanilla and clove, make this ruby-red wine a delight. It has soft tannins, an appealing freshness and a very mellow, full-bodied and wonderfully balanced body. A rich, fruity and enduring pleasure.

Wine type

Full-bodied wines

Lingering wines

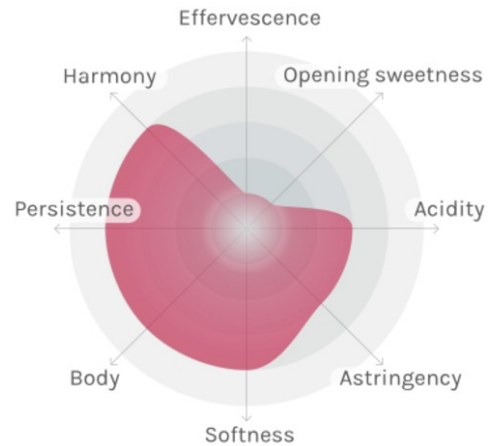

Sweeter wines

Producer

Pousio

A small, high-quality and technically cutting-edge winery in Vidiguera at the heart of the Alentejo region offers supple, balanced wines made mainly from indigenous grape varieties. Stony, barren granite and slate soils make for extremely concentrated vines. In a dry, frost-free climate with Atlantic influence, hot days and cool nights create the basis for wines with harmonious flavours, merging power and elegance, fruit and flavour. The hard work, patience and love that each member of the team puts into all phases of production can be felt in all the products.

Foodpairing

